AWSDA runs a FREE referral database of training facilities, rape crisis counseling centers, victim assistance programs, etc. Our goal is to provide information about local services available to members and non-members. If you would like to be part of it, please visit www.awsda.org and register once you become a member.

AWSDA members must demonstrate a commitment to the values and purposes of the Corporation, including respect for women and all others.

AWSDA Values

- Every woman has the absolute right to defend herself.
- It is important that every woman has access to readily available, practical self defense training.
- It is important to educate women about their legal rights in regards to self defense.
- It is important to provide outreach, rape prevention and self defense training to women in their communities.
- It is important to maintain an international registry of instructors teaching women's self-defense.
- It is important to establish a collaborative effort with other organizations in order to promote women's self-reliance and to facilitate the provision of a full range of related services including rape crisis and counseling centers.
